Our son is autistic and non-verbal, so finding a setting where he felt safe, understood, and genuinely included was incredibly important to us. Wacky Woods has been exactly that and so much more.

From the very beginning, the team took the time to get to know him as an individual, respecting his unique way of communicating and celebrating his strengths. He has always been welcomed with patience, kindness, and understanding, and it has been wonderful to see him so happy and eager to attend.

The outdoor environment has given him the freedom to explore, learn, and build confidence in a way that truly suits him. We've seen him develop new skills, become more independent, and engage with the world around him in ways that have made us incredibly proud.

As parents, it has meant so much to know that he has been cared for by people who genuinely understand and value him. Wacky Woods has provided him with experiences, friendships, and opportunities that we will always be grateful for.

We cannot thank the team enough for the positive impact they have had on our son's journey, and we would wholeheartedly recommend Wacky Woods to any family looking for a nurturing, inclusive, and supportive environment.
